

G7

"Life is an echo, what you send out comes back ... what you send out in abundance comes back in abundance"

A big turning point for me in my life was when I discovered the power of G7 and lived it at work, home and in the community.

Since G8 was already taken, I went with G7 which is simply the attitude of give, give, give, give, give, give and give again. When you meet with another person or are speaking to a group, do you think about what can you get from them or do you have the attitude of what can I do for them. Most people go into meetings and encounters with others with the attitude of what can I get. This is short term thinking. These are the takers and people will make a quick decision on whether you are a giver or a taker by how you approach them. Go into every exchange with others with the attitude of what can I do for you and watch the magic happen.

I am often asked if I spend all my time to give, give, give, give, give, give and give again, how do I get, get, get, get. Giving starts the receiving process. Some of the best gives are simple things like listening, complimenting people, sharing, collaborating, smiling, laughing, saying thank you and please. You can still give money and time to charities and those in need which is the traditional side of giving. The giving that I am asking you to make part of how you make a difference is G7 which will create tremendous abundance and open up unlimited possibilities in your Life.

Think G7 and have a great week !
